Dear Hiring Committee,

I am writing to express my interest in the internship opportunity at the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP). With a background in Computer Science and practical experience in data management, reporting, documentation, and operational coordination, I am eager to contribute my analytical and problem-solving skills to an organization working towards sustainable and inclusive development.

During my academic and professional experience, I have developed a strong interest in working with data and using it to support informed decision-making. At Dplus Life LLP, I worked with product and inventory data, where my responsibilities included maintaining and validating databases, performing data verification and quality checks, and preparing operational reports. I also gained experience in admissions, fee records, attendance, documentation, performance reporting, scheduling, and resource coordination at Aaradhana Coaching Classes. These experiences strengthened my attention to detail, organizational abilities, and ability to manage information accurately.

My academic background in Computer Science has further developed my analytical and technical capabilities. I am comfortable working with Excel, including Pivot Tables, VLOOKUP/XLOOKUP, data cleaning, formatting, charts, and dashboards, along with basic SQL. I enjoy transforming raw information into structured insights and clear reports that can support practical decisions.

I am particularly interested in UNDP because of its focus on sustainable development, innovation, and creating meaningful social impact. An internship at UNDP would provide me with an opportunity to apply my existing skills in a purpose-driven environment while learning from professionals working on complex development challenges. I would bring curiosity, reliability, attention to detail, and a willingness to learn and contribute wherever required.

I would be grateful for the opportunity to contribute to UNDP and further develop my professional skills through this internship. Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the possibility of discussing how my background and skills could contribute to your team.

Sincerely,

Aarya Sujeet Sinha
